The podcast has a fundamental driver to engage local people in a new way in a conversation about community engagement, hate crime and young people's futures. The podcast goes out weekly, with a standard structure that features interviews with local people, safety advice, signposting information, and key local messaging. The structure of the podcast allows for us to cover a wide range of issues in a conversational and non-threatening way; not didactic or overbearing but still very relevant and useful for local people.	5,000	Safer Neighbourhood Board
