

Annual monitoring report on the Local Development Framework – 2004/2005

www.barking-dagenham.gov.uk

By law, every year we must write an annual monitoring report on the Local Development Framework. We are still preparing the Local Development Framework, which will become the plan for how land and space are used in the borough.

Our annual monitoring reports must report on how far along we are in preparing the local development plan and whether we are on target for it replacing the Unitary Development Plan by 2008.

Our annual monitoring reports also have to collect evidence on how land and space are used in the borough. This will show if the existing plan for the borough is working.

Our findings as at the end of March 2005, for the period from April 2004 to 31 March 2005, are as follows.

- We are on target for the Local Development Framework replacing the 1995 Unitary Development Plan by 2008.
- Building as many houses as we set out to do is not easy. This year, 501 homes were built in Barking and Dagenham, but we had hoped that we could have built 510, in line with the target in the London Plan 2004. This is not our fault because it is up to the house-building industry to build the houses. In the past year, we gave planning permission for 836 homes to be built. Sometimes, houses that we have given permission for don't get built at all. This can be because the things that the people who will live in the houses need - like access to public transport - are not there. Over the ten years from 2007, we want to actually build twice as many houses as were built this year. We have to think about how the building industry can help us to achieve this.

- Almost 50% of all the houses built in the last year were built for people who earn less than the average amount earned by people in London. We have done very well on this point, as we had only set out to make sure that 25% of all new houses should be for people who are less well off.
- Certain land is reserved for providing employment opportunities. About 20% of this land is now used by distribution and storage companies. About 10% is now empty, but there are plans to make better use of this land.
- In Barking and Dagenham, we work with waste companies to deal with a lot more waste than the people who live here produce. That means we are doing more than our fair share and we want people from other parts of London to deal with some of their own waste. In the last year, most of the waste we produced (88%) in Barking and Dagenham went to landfill sites. We hope to recycle more in the future.

While we are producing the Local Development Framework, we need to think about how we want to change the plans we currently have. We need to think about what targets we want to set for ourselves, and we should only set targets we can achieve. We need to collect evidence to prove that we have achieved our targets. This can help us to make sure there is a better quality of life for everyone now and in the future.
